FOREWORD

Warm greetings to you all! This Class Record is not complete, like Harriet's splendid 50th year record, but is only a flashing glimpse of the years since our last reunion. Nearly all our members have contributed the short account for which we asked, but in order to keep a uniform brevity, several reports have necessarily and regretfully been cut down. Our class this spring numbers thirty-six, of whom eighty-one percent have contributed personal records; of the twenty-five non-graduates, sixty-four percent have contributed.

The record is welcoming at Wellesley in June all who return for our 60th reunion, and is being sent to all absent members. As you read between the lines, short as they are, you will realize anew the inspiration of Wellesley and the comradeship of '91.

Loyally yours,

BERTHA PALMER LANE

CLASS RECORD

1946-1951

Graduates

MYRTILLA AVERY, B.S.

B.L.S., 1896, University of the State of N.Y., M.A., 1913, Wellesley; Ph.D., 1927, Radcliffe.

"How I wish I could tell you that my book on the Exultet Rolls of South Italy is now in print, and all my days serene and orderly ... But let me mention some treasure out of the past five years. I will choose the impersonal one of a growing familiarity with the writings of Charles Williams, whose studies of Dante opened up enticing vistas.

Also, I have a delightful grand-godchild, so the grandmothers of the class have 'nothing on me'."

ESTHER BAILEY, B.A.

"Since 1947 I have been living in the home of my elder sister and her daughter, and sharing the household duties. For the first time in more than fifty years I am on no board, save that of the Class, nor committee, and I find it not unpleasant to come and go when I will and not when I must."

MARIA BALDWIN, B.A.

"The past five years have brought little change. I still live half a mile from Dorr's Corner (U.S. 301), a main highway for the South; I am still mildly interested in the D.A.R.; more in our fifty-year-old Brantwood Club; and most in our Church and the Missionary work. For three years I have taught the Women's Bible class. And of course there is my house-mate cousin, and my cousin and her family next door."

ALMIRA LAURA BATT, B.S.

"No longer a retired teacher resting from her labors, but a busy house-keeper with my brother and nephew, and finding it heart-satisfying though time-consuming."

M. LILLIAN BURR, B.S.

Mrs. Frank O. Belden

Children : L. Burr ; Marion T. (Mrs. Richard Anderson)

Grandchildren : six

Great grandchildren : two

"1941-1946 Five happy years in our dear Redland home. Birth of our only grand-daughter; two grandsons enlist in Navy.

1946-1951 Death of my husband in '46, and leaving Redlands for San Bernardino. Both grandsons return from the Pacific, marry, and each one gives me a great-grand-daughter. My third grandson enlists in the Air Force."

LOUISE W. DANIELSON, B.A.

"In 1948 my invalid sister, for whom I cared about eighteen years, died. So I made my house into two apartments, one for two old pupils of mine and their son. Our former companion lives with me."

JENNIE HILTON FORD, B.A.

"In decided contrast to city life is the quiet one I am now living in Duxbury, Massachusetts, with a private family. The recent removal of cataracts enables me to read and write again, and even thread a needle! A cane, the radio and four cats to pet are fully appreciated."

FLORA A. HALL, B.S.

Mrs. Edwin S. Martin

Flora is ill and cannot write. In an April letter, 1949, she wrote, "The young fearless things in the garden—the snow-drops, scillas, chionodoxas, pushkinias, grape hyacinths and crocuses—have made a gay procession since mid-February, and now jonquil and double daffodil and trumpet narcissus are on parade. They do gladden the eye and heart."

DAISY I. HALLAM, B.A.

"The last five years have passed without even a trip out of town except by motor to Cave In Rock and Elizabethtown, two of the oldest towns in Illinois. I was in the hospital last year with a strained back. We of eighty years think we can do many things we used to. I have spent most of my time sewing,—quilts and lace pieces.

Having lived so long I should really be much more intelligent, but I enjoy each day as it comes."

SARAH H. HARLOW, B.S.
M.A. 1901, Columbia University

"The past five years have been spent quietly and pleasantly with my sister in our apartment, 'Treetops', interrupted by visits to Florida and to the mountains. My doctor today pronounced me sound in mind and limb."

ELIZABETH G. HOYT, B.A.
M.A., 1903, Wellesley

"In 1948 I had an attack of lumbago, after which my friends insisted that I must not live alone any longer; so I got me a housekeeper, and she is a good one.

This summarizes the most important change for me in the last five years."

GRACE E. JACKSON, B.A.

"The last five years in two sentences! Some task! Six months of each year have been spent happily in Chicago, and the other six months in Laguna Beach, California, with my long time friend, Grace Bridges."

HARRIET L. JONES, B.S.

"A year ago my sister after a long illness was released. When I left Jamestown I fully expected to return, but in four years there had been so many changes there among my friends that it seemed best to remain here near my two nieces.

I do hope a goodly number may be able to attend the reunion. Sixty years is a very, very long time!"

LIZZIE LEE JONES, B.A.

Mrs. J. Howard Field

Children: Helen (Mrs. Howard Taylor); John Howard; Elizabeth (Mrs. Duryea E. Elmendorf)
Grandchildren: six

"I live alone and like it. One winter of the five was spent in Florida, and occasional trips have been made, not too far away, including my first airplane ride at eighty-one. One week in the hospital for arthritis sums up all my ills.

My blessings are without number."

THEODORA KYLE, B.A.

Mrs. Frederic H. Chase

Children: Martha; Frederic H., Jr.; Theodore

Grandchildren: two

"Since 1948, I have devoted myself to reading books, old and new. They are a stimulant."

CLARA H. LOOK, B.A.

B.S., 1932, Columbia University

Mrs. William Boone Nauts

Children: William Boone, Jr.; Richard Look

Grandchildren: two

"My son Dick's marriage, my grand-daughter Nancy's wedding, my sister Sue's stay at Shannon Lodge, my sojourns in Houston, New York and Cornwall, Connecticut,—and through it all thankfulness for health and many blessings,—this sketches the last five years."

MAY PAGE, B.S.

"The past years have brought more sunshine than clouds; a pleasant home, good friends and excellent health. There is still much to live for."

BERTHA PALMER, B.A.

M.A. 1893, Wellesley

Mrs. William C. Lane

Children: Margaret, Wellesley 1926; Rosamond (Mrs. Milton

E. Lord) Wellesley, 1927

Grandchildren: five

"Happy years in my Boxford home with my librarian daughter Margaret,—my daughter Rosamond's family living in the next house. Interests are music, reading, church, mending, cooking, feeding of birds, and an annual visit to Islesford, Maine, which is a second home for our family."

MARIAN WILLIAMS PERRIN, B.A.

Mrs. Henry F. Burton

Children: Andrew Perrin; Sara Fairfield (Mrs. William S. Simpson); Henry Fairfield, Jr.

Grandchildren: one

"Since 1921, widow, mother-in-law, grandmother, current topics lecturer, New York State Movie censor, political campaigning, four college deanships declined, motor accident, crutches and cane—now waiting for Wings!"

LOUISE POPE, B.A. 1892

M.A. 1900, Wellesley

Mrs. Homer M. Johnson

Children: Jeannette (Mrs. John B. Dempsey) Wellesley '24; Alfred, deceased; Philip; Theodate (Mrs. Anthony Kloman), Wellesley '29.

Grandchildren: three

"There has been little change since '46; Homer and I both well, living in New London, Ohio, winters; with occasional visits to our Cleveland apartment. In '48 Theodate married Anthony Kloman. They are now living in London, England, but will be in this country next June.

My special playfellow is an Elkhound given me by my children, rather strenuous but most companionable."

SALLIE REED, B.S.

B.S. 1887, Ohio, Wesleyan

Mrs. Edward M. Semans

Children: Joseph Reed, deceased; Anne Newman (Mrs. Henry B. Anderson); Abigail Merrick

Grandchildren: two

"I will be thinking of you all and wishing I could be there. I am sure I could talk more than any of you. Love to you all."

SARA M. ROBERTS, B.S.

Mrs. Cornelius Weygandt

Children: Cornelius Nolen; Ann Matlack

Grandchildren: two

"Cornelius and I have spent the last five pleasantly uneventful years in the old Germantown house,—our home since 1900, with summers in the old New Hampshire house at Sandwich. Ann is with us during college vacations, and drives us to and from Sandwich in the '35 Chevy, which like ourselves shows its age, but which like ourselves is still up to its job."

CHARLOTTE THORNDIKE SIBLEY, B.A.

M.A. 1894, Wellesley

Mrs. Henry Hoyt Hilton

Children: Katharine Leighton (Mrs. John Bradley), deceased;
Wellesley '19; Charlotte Wallace (Mrs. Philip Lyons) Wellesley '22; Thorndike, deceased; Henry
Hoyt, Jr.; Ruth Sibley, deceased; Edward Lucius

Grandchildren: six

Great grandchildren: one

"In June, 1946, my husband retired and we sold our Chicago home to the University of Chicago for the residence in perpetuity of the president of the university. We then moved to our ancestral farm near Boston.

Later events:—in 1947, our golden wedding; in 1948, the death of my husband; in 1948, the graduation from Wellesley of our eldest grand-daughter, now Mrs. Frederick A. Rice, Jr., who has given me my first great-grandson; in 1950, the death of my daughter Katharine. I now live in Chicago in an apartment near an artist daughter, a lawyer son, a son who is a teacher, and their families. I travel no more."

MILLIE R. TODD, B.S.

Mrs. Harry H. Smith

Children: Julia Rosaline ('91's Class Baby); Mildred Todd
(Mrs. Paul H. Green), Wellesley '17; Platt Howard; William Elliott Todd

Grandchildren: four

"My life is very uneventful now,—winters, in my Brooklyn home with my family and my church; summers in my old Fayetteville home, enjoying the country air, its flowers and my old friends."

HARRIET E. TUELL, B.A.

Ph.D., 1894, Cornell University

"A happy life with my sister, near 'The Oaks of Old Wellesley' enriched by Alma Mater's generous gifts,—that is the setting. As for accompaniments,—there is little to offer beyond a well-thumbed copy of "The Joy of Cooking", occasional hortatory epistles to Congressmen, and periodic reports to, of, and for the Class of 1891, Rah! Rah! Rah!"

ELLEN JULIETTE WALL, B.S.

Mrs. Francis E. Pope

Child: Juliette Celeste (Mrs. T. L. Fentress) Wellesley '27.
Grandchildren: three

"The last five years have brought me sorrow in the passing of my dear companion of forty-five years. The joy of living to see my grand-daughter in Wellesley is, however, very pleasing.

I hope we may have a goodly number present at our 60th."

MARY ELIZABETH WARDWELL, B.A.

Mrs. Charles H. Morrill

Child: Charles Wardwell
Grandchildren: two

"Is it observations on living I am supposed to contribute to our class reunion report? Life has been overwhelming to most of us, I think. But it has been wonderful, too. I believe so thoroughly in 'the power outside ourselves that makes for righteousness' that I always trust the outcome of life no matter how dire the events as they pass."

LEWANNA WILKINS, B.S.

M.A. Columbia University

"Since our last reunion I have 'stayed put' in the Washington area. In 1906, after our 15th reunion a friend with whom I was travelling in Europe, who had been at Wellesley for her 10th reunion told me that she and a classmate decided that our class was as fine as their own!

Now that I am not travelling, I am glad that I have seen so many of the nations about which we are troubled. How thankful we are to be Americans!"

FRANCES L. WOODFORD, B.S.

Mrs. John P. Bankson

Children: John P., Jr.; Woodford; Frances W. (Mrs. Theodore F. G. von Groschwitz), Wellesley '28; Lloyd, deceased
Grandchildren: four

"I still drive my own car, read, play bridge and canasta, and knit,—just now knitting for the first expected great grandchild. I have two married grand-daughters,—one

Vassar, the other Magna cum laude from San Jose College, California.

I spend the winter in a quiet boarding-house, the summer in my little camp on Highland Lake, Winsted, Connecticut. On my 80th birthday which coincided with that of the Standard Oil Company of Ohio, I had a present from them of a birthday cake with 80 candles, and a complimentary letter."

Non-graduate Members

EMILY BARNES '87—'88

"Here it is, short and uninteresting,—I have been Insurance Secretary and Solicitor in a busy Insurance and Loan Office for the last ten years. Have a small apartment in the home of a friend, and find Lexington, Ky. a very pleasant place in which to live."

FANNIE T. BUGBEE '86—'87, '88—'89

Mrs. Hollis W. Cobb

"I celebrated my eightieth birthday by a trip to Mexico.

Two cousins, both gone now, brought up from childhood as sisters, when health failed became my responsibility. I had them in a nursing home near me, and visited them every day, one for ten years, the other for a year and a half. Nothing doing since then. My home is still in Worcester."

MARY C. CROOK '88—'89

Mrs. Walter K. Baldwin

"I have a Citrus Grove out here (Phoenix, Arizona) which fills my winter months. Then I have lived fifty years in my Highland Park home. I would love to be at the College for the 60th reunion, but I am settled here, and cannot leave."

LILLIAN M. DARLING '87—'89

"I and my sister are still living at the old homestead at 590 Prospect Street, Fall River, Mass."

GRACE DEMING '86—'87, '88—'89

"I'm sorry I cannot be present at the reunion of the Class of '91. I wish to extend best wishes for a happy reunion.

I am pleasantly located in a Convalescent Home in Geneseo, Illinois. The passing years have made so many changes at Wellesley it would hardly seem like a home to me now."

LANETTA ELTING '88—'89

Mrs. George DuBois

Child: Jesse Elting

"Five very happy but uneventful years,—summers spent in New Paltz, winters with my son's family in Jackson Heights. I still have my Travel Agency, but a very conservative clientele who don't seem to want to go now to Europe or around the world. My one grand-daughter incessantly begs for stories,—'Please, when you were a little girl. . .' Like all grandmothers, I obey."

MARION L. FULLER '87—'90

Mrs. Louis F. Maynard

Children: Percival Hardy; Tilson Fuller

Grandchildren: two

"My home has been in Palestine, Texas, for a number of years, but my son wanted me to come to Waco because he is pastor of the Emmanuel Baptist church here. I help some in the work, but not much for I am not strong enough. . . I have always loved to teach.

I am sure you will all enjoy the class reunion."

RUTH W. HOBSON '87—'88

Mrs. W. S. Tangier Smith

B.A. 1890, University of California

Child: one

"As for my life, it remains very quiet and uneventful, filled with home interests,—reading and correspondence (no knitting!),—and enlivened by having our daughter, a busy physician, in the same household.

I hope '91 may be represented at Wellesley in June by a goodly assemblage of octogenarians, and I send my hearty greetings and best wishes for them all."

LOLA ABBOTT McDANIEL '87—'90

Mrs. Cato Sells

Children: Dorothy McDaniel, Wellesley '16; Donald Douglas;
Barbara Leigh (Mrs. H. C. Byrke, Jr.) Stanton
Dunlap, deceased

"Since my husband's death in '48, I have divided my time among my three children,—corresponding with my far-away daughter Dorothy in London, England, sojourning with my son Donald in Chicago, and with my daughter Barbara in Fort Worth, Texas.

In the belief that love and work are life's greatest gifts, and in an effort to fulfill Wellesley's motto, I have tried to maintain an open-minded outlook upon life through reading, writing, listening, church work, and finding relaxation in gardening, handwork and neighborliness."

MAUD MASON '87—'91

"At my age, occupation is chiefly memories; so amusing, so dear, so enlarging and refining that they form a sacred volume for me to read the rest of my life."

ELIZABETH M. PATTERSON '87—'88

Mrs. W. Augustus Thomas

Child: Anita Delia (Mrs. Kenneth Gooding McConnell)
Grandchildren: two

"In 1939, I published a De Luxe book, 'Old Kentucky Homes and Gardens'. In 1943-45, I was State president of Kentucky Garden Clubs, and since 1947 I have served as president of the National Society of Arts and Letters, Kentucky."

BESSIE HOLDEN PLYMPTON '87—'90

B.A. University of Buffalo

Mrs. Ausburn D. Dwelle

Child: Helen (Mrs. Philip H. Davis), deceased
Grandchildren: three

"A year ago last summer I went to Italy taking my two grand-daughters and their cousins, three very bright girls. We toured hill towns as well as cities. Then by way of Trieste we went into the Austrian Tyrol. When we sailed from Genoa we left Helen behind for a year in Ireland, Trinity College. I say every trip is my last, and then I add, 'next time I am going to——'.

'91-ers, don't pass me by!! I am not far from Rutland and Woodstock,—Tyson, Vermont,—don't forget!"

EMMA D. WILCOX '87—'89

M.D., 1891, New York Medical College for Women

"My thought will be with you at the reunion. After general practice for twenty years, I became Resident Physician in the Theosophical Headquarters and University at Point Loma California, now moved to Covina. Last fall my eyesight failed, so though now after an operation I have partial vision I can no longer carry on my work.

But remember me as one who can look back in memory to a wonderfully blessed life. I know that Age is greater than Youth because it is Harvest Time."
